HOMECOMING '73

The Homecoming festivities this year will be on November 15, 16, and 17. There will be a wide variety of activities; all propose to make this the greatest Homecoming TNC has ever had.

Founders Day Chapel

Homecoming activities began officially yesterday morning with the Founders Day Chapel at 10:00 a.m., the regular chapel hour. Bob Benson was the featured speaker.

Pep Rally, March and Bonfire

The Pep Rally for Homecoming was last night at 6:30 p.m. in the gymnasium. Immediately after the Pep Rally, a march around the campus occurred, followed by a bonfire behind Tidwell between the tennis courts and Hart Street.

Parade

Trevecca's Second Homecoming Parade will begin today at 2:00 p.m. at the Sears parking lot on Murfreesboro Road. It will progress down Murfreesboro Road and terminate on campus.

There will be a number of floats including one entered by each of the four classes. The floats will be in competition, with a panel of judges choosing the winner.

Other features of the Parade will be two marching bands, a boy scout troupe, and TNC's own Bicycle Club. The Concert Band will perform, also.

Several cars also help form the parade. The Homecoming court, Dr. and Mrs. Mark Moore, and several clubs will be presented here.

Homecoming Game

This afternoon at 5:45 p.m., there will be a basketball game featuring the Alumni against the intramural All-Stars in the gymnasium.

The Homecoming game will be against the Harding College Bisons of Searcy, Arkansas. The game, which is the first for the 1973-74 season, begins at 8:00 p.m. in the gym.

TREVECCA RECEIVES $50,000 DONATION

by Brian McGuire

President Mark R. Moore recently announced to TREV-ECHOES that TNC received a major donation of $50,000. This gift is from the Arthur Vining Davis Foundation. This check was sent by the Executive Director of the Foundation, Mr. William R. Wright, and received in the mail by Dr. Moore a couple of weeks ago.

Mr. Claude Diehl of Trevecca visited the Arthur Vining Davis Foundation at its home in Miami, Florida. This contact was followed up by a visit to the Trevecca campus by Mr. Franklyn A. Johnson, consultant for the Foundation, on July 18, 1972. He was interested in Trevecca's Self Study and how the school operated.

Another man most instrumental in arranging this gift was Mr. Roscoe Buttry, President of Third National Bank here in Nashville, and member of the President's Advisory Board. He has had a very keen interest in Trevecca Nazarene College. This grant was received at the present time largely through his continued effort and interest.

This large sum of money will have a two-fold purpose: (1) to increase the enrollment through a vigorous recruitment program, and (2) to intensify our development program. The office and personnel for financial development and recruitment will be restructured over a two-year period. Three to five new staff members will go out over the Zone counseling prospective students on a more personal basis than before. Thirty thousand of this money over the two-year period will go for this program. The other twenty thousand will be used in the financial development. These new programs will also serve to help raise money from business and industry.

Trevecca Nazarene College is indeed grateful to all those involved in the arranging of this gift. Through this gift, Trevecca will continue to expand and grow at a greater rate than ever.

MACKKEY SCHOLARSHIP ESTABLISHED

by Tim Pusey

Dr. A. B. Mackey served Trevecca Nazarene College for thirty-eight years, holding, as he liked to put it, every office from that "of janitor down to the presidency." Without this man, we would not have a Trevecca as it stands today. In tribute and honor to him, the Trevecca Alumni Association has recently established the A. B. Mackey Memorial Scholarship Fund. The scholarship program will serve to aid worthy students while continuing to direct Dr. Mackey's influence.

A former dean under A. B. Mackey, Dr. Homer Adams, has been chosen to head the drive, aiming for the goal of fifty thousand dollars. Hopefully this sum will have been collected by this year's commencement exercises. The scholarship will be taken from the interest drawn on the total amount, so the fund should never become exhausted.

Details of investment, funding, and recipients will be decided upon by the Alumni Association and the college administrators. They are having an executive meeting on November 17th during Homecoming.

Welcome Home!

by Linda Cramer

"Home where my mind keeps strayin', home where the songs keep playin'..."

Home - a place where our hearts and spirits linger on memories of times past, on things that can never be brought back, never happen exactly the way they did before.

Home - a place to love and be loved.

Home - Mom and Dad.

Home - security.

All these things, yet so much more that really can't be put into words, like...Home - Trevecca??? What a paradox! "Trevecca's just a school," you say. "If this were my home, why would I ever leave here in the first place?" Because you want a change of pace, a chance to try your wings, to live for yourself - exactly what everyone does upon leaving home...or college.

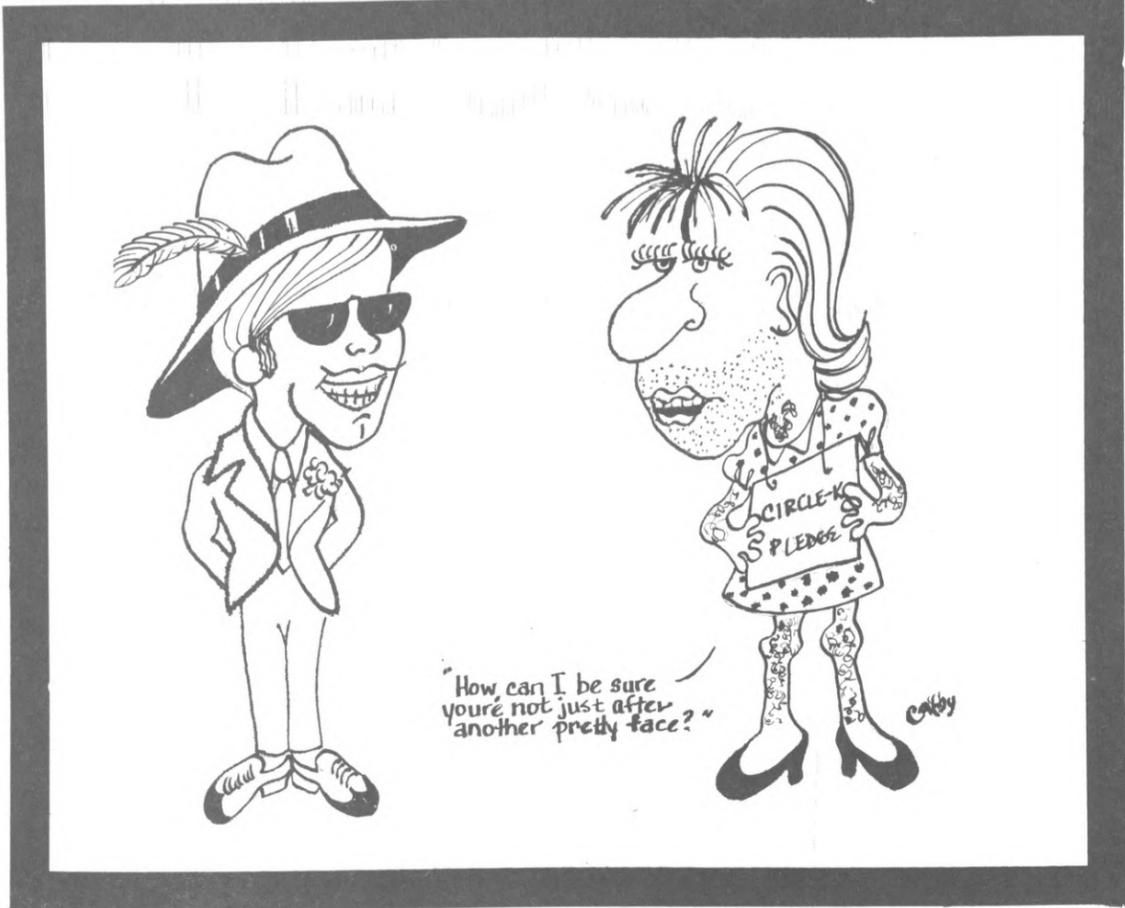

You go out, get a job, marry, raise a family, become "the old man or lady next door." Then one day, your mind returns to....

Home - a college.

Home - a great place to be.

Home - T.N.C.

Trevecca Alumni, welcome back!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

This letter will probably get shouted down, but it doesn't matter. It concerns the ridiculous spectacle that went on a couple of weeks called Circle K initiation.

In the first place, I fail to see how making the Trevecca campus seethe with idiotic transvestites provides service to our collegé. I just wonder what visitors on the campus might think, or even people driving through.

Secondly, if Circle K is a service organization, why must an applicant make a complete fool of himself for a whole day, disrupt chapel by making a mockery of the school song, and crawl around on the floor barking during the meals. I don't feel one should have to go through this merely to be able to belong to this alleged service organization.

Thirdly, if this initiation is necessary to "screen" applicants, why doesn't this club admit to itself what it really is: a clumsily-concealed fraternity?

Perhaps I am missing the whole point of having such an "elite" group favor Trevecca with its service. Still I think there are much better ways.

- Name Withheld

Dear Editor:

Although I am one of many distraught Americans whose confidence in President Nixon is seriously shaken and although I cannot fully convince myself that an intelligent leader of the executive branch of the federal government could have failed to keep control of the goings-on around him, still I dislike hearing unfounded accusations against him.

My regard for the former Vice President is not so amiable. I have never greatly admired Mr. Agnew, especially since his law and order stance was exposed as hypocritical. Nevertheless, I dislike hearing unfounded statements against him. Why is it that we feel justified in slandering a political figure although we would not think of defaming anyone else's character in such a way? Whether the integrity of an individual is in question should have no effect on our commitment to truth and to the principle that one is innocent until proven guilty.

Going even a step further, I assert that knowledge of a person's guilt concerning one issue is no license for an observer to assert, without proof, that the person is guilty of other wrongdoings. Perhaps we as moral citizens should be careful that our influence be one of truth than conjecture.

-Philip D. Bowles

Dear Editor:

"Celebrate Unity" - who started this rumor? Just for the record, according to Webster, unity is defined as "the state of being one group or body formed in agreement to produce one harmonious effect."

Maybe I have always been impulsive, but I entered Trevecca Nazarene College with the impression that I had found Utopia. To say the least, I was a fool. The handbook says, "Christian atmosphere, wholesome fun, new friends, recreation, develop a good personality, grow spiritually at Trevecca." If...you can stand the gossip and the feeling of being alone. If...you can trust those new friends and callous your heart from all emotions of life. If...you don't get caught at having "fun" (If watching television on Friday or sitting on the wall with "friends" can be called that!) If ...you can communicate with people enough to develop a good personality or if people listen. All this helps you grow spiritually?

Maybe, I'm stupid or maybe I'm confused, but where is this unity? Has it been displayed to everyone but me? I'm not against people here, I'm just so alone and feel so unwanted. Unity must include all people, yet everyone is so fake and computerized. Maybe you really do believe you are Christians and that you display love and unity. Who am I to judge? Even though I am prejudged, humiliated, and ignored, still I must smile and say "God wants me here." I feel like a hypocrite, yet I am so sure I have a right to be here.

This is a great place for an education, but we can no longer stress unity until we actually have it. Working toward it does not mean hurting people, ignoring people, and producing a hum-drum atmosphere. We must all accept people as they are, for what they are, no matter how big or small, accept them, love them...at whatever cost. We cannot "celebrate unity" when there are so many who refuse to lower themselves just far enough to love, really love another person, not so equal.

For Psalms 55 says: "It was not an enemy who taunted me - then I could have borne it; I could have hidden and escaped. But it was you, a man like myself, my companion and my friend. This friend of mine betrayed me - I who was at peace with him. He broke his promises. His words were oily smooth, but in his heart was war."

You are preaching unity to bring this campus together and make it last forever. You've got to learn to give before you borrow and before you lead, you must follow. Some of us know unity, what we are here for; but there are still those who doubt.

Tear down the walls, accept people for their faults. We cannot hide them on shelves. We must love as love created us. There is no way to unity. Unity is The Way.

SPECIAL EDITOR'S NOTE

With this issue, not only are we celebrating the return of TNC alumni, but also the TREV-ECHOES 29th birthday. First published November 8, 1944, the paper was one mimeographed sheet edited by Howard T. Wall, then a sophomore, and until recently, our Director of Student Aid.

Gradually, conditions and finances improved until it became the publication it is today, circulated to the student body bi-weekly. This year it is our goal to keep you informed on campus news, as well as other major issues that may affect you, with the addition of a little entertainment.

We want do our best to serve you, the student, in printing a paper that you will read and enjoy. Your suggestions and written contributions (whether they are in the form of sports, news, features, or "Letters to the Editor") are welcomed. This is your paper, so please help us improve it!

WINGING IT!

by Mark Farris

Most all of us have at one time or another felt the Spirit of God. We may have felt Him in chapel, revivals, prayer rooms, and countless other places. Hopefully, on a holiness college campus, we can feel a measure of Him at all times. I'm quite sure that Christians will tell you there is nothing quite like feeling God's Spirit around them - and that's good. But is it enough? We should not just feel God's Spirit around us, but in us and through us - completely accomplishing His will for us and pruning our lives to be better servants for Him.

In 1963 a new type of aircraft wing was successfully tested. Most wings have the standard curved upper surface to give it lift. The air at first comes in contact with sticks to it at high speeds and disturbs the airflow, thus increasing drag and decreasing speed. The new wing, called the laminar-flow wing, has numerous curved slots cut in both its upper and lower surfaces. Instead of the churning unstable air disturbing the airflow, it is sucked through the wing by two turbine driven pumps, rigged beneath and aft of the wing, and jetisoned out the rear. The laminar principle lowered friction and drag by an encouraging figure. The improvement came when the air passed not only over the wing but through it.

Ephesians 5:18 says, "be filled with the Spirit." Don't just stand in His presence but be filled with it. It seems as though Satan is making more of an effort today to put forces of drag on Christians than at any other time. So if there has ever been a time when we need to take the laminar principal and apply it to our spiritual lives, it's now. The time has come for us to be filled with God's Spirit and have the fruits of that Spirit come jetisoning from our lives. This is the kind of person that is precious in the sight of God.

THE MESSIAH IS COMING!

On December 2nd, Trevecca's Concert Choir will be presenting one of the world's greatest musical masterpieces, The Messiah by G. F. Handel. The presentation will be held at 6:00 p.m. in the College Hill Church of the Nazarene. This work has lasted for more than two centuries, and its beauty is still echoed, especially at Christmas time. As its title suggests, it tells of Jesus Christ from the hope of His coming to His resurrection and ascension.

WHO'S WHO SELECTED

by Linda Cramer

A few weeks ago, upperclassmen of Trevecca voted for ten outstanding seniors to represent the college in the 1973-74 Who's Who in American Colleges. Most students voted according to the individual's leadership, personality, scholastic standing, Christian life, and other general qualities. The following were selected for this honor: Herb Agee, Bev Amburgey, Kevin Beard, Dan Boone, Keith Currie, Dave Foltz, Pam Gerard, Randall Morton, Wayne Thomas, and Don York.

HERB AGEE is from Barnwell, South Carolina, although he was originally born here in Nashville. Majoring in Speech Communications and minoring in religion, Herb plans on attending seminary upon graduation from Trevecca. This year he is acting as a debate assistant and has been in Student Mission Corp for two years.

BEVERLY AMBURGEY a music major and a piano performance minor, wants to teach either elementary or high school music after graduation. She has been a member of the Homecoming court her sophomore, junior, and senior years and was a cheerleader for three years. Bev is from Mt. Sterling, Kentucky.

KEVIN BEARD is very active in sports here on Trevecca's campus, recently having won a city-wide tennis match competition. His home is in Dunedin, Florida, and he hopes to enter medical school within the next year in preparation for becoming a doctor.

DAN BOONE is from McComb, Mississippi and is presently serving as STUCO Chapel Committee chairman. Majoring in Religion and minoring in Speech Communications, he later plans to enter seminary.

KEITH CURRIE, a member of the male singing group, The Reflections, has been very active in music organizations the last three years, in addition to being last year's Religious Affairs Director. From Columbia, Tennessee and a Music Education major, he later hopes to teach music in high school.

DAVID FOLTZ, student body president, makes his major in Religion with a minor in Youth Ministry. He is from Mooresville, North Carolina. Dave has been active in numerous sports and organizations in the past and is now serving his fourth year on the Student Council.

born in Kodiak, Alaska. Her major is in Music Education with an applied field in voice. She is a participant in Concert Choir, Circle Kettes, and the Music Club, as well as being a member of this year's Homecoming court. She later plans to teach music, possibly in the area of music therapy.

RANDALL MORTON is a Biology major and a Chemistry minor. His home being in Birmingham, Alabama, he is a member of Civitan, Sigma Zeta, and the Honor Society, as well as a player in intramural football. Randall hopes to attend medical school and eventually become a doctor.

WAYNE THOMAS is a student body vice-president this year, serving his third year on the Student Council. Making his home in Florida, he is majoring in Religion and minoring in Youth Ministry. Next year he will be attending seminary in Kansas City and hopes to go into the ministry.

DON YORK is from Columbus, Ohio and is a Religion-Psychology major. This year he is Director of Religious Affairs and active in C.W.A. and Y.M.C. (Youth Ministers' Club). He plans on going to Peabody to major in psychology and would like to work in the future in some area of Christian psychology.

SPIRITS HAUNT TNC

What is Halloween? The dictionary says Halloween is usually celebrated on the evening of October 31, which is followed by All Saint's Day. It is generally celebrated with fun-making and masquerading.

Trevecca wasn't without any of this. The excitement of Halloween started on Saturday night, October 27, with the Halloween party sponsored by the Seniors - "Seven Rooms of Gloom." The entertainment began in the cafeteria with a girls trio, followed by a dramatic reading.

Shock and horror were some of the feelings of Trevecca's "brave" students as they plunged their way through the "Seven Rooms of Gloom," never knowing who would jump out or grab them next. One of the more impressive parts was crawling through the dirt in the basement, with the fear of someone coming at you from the other direction - only to find at the end that you had crawled around in a circle!

Then Tuesday night, October 30, students and faculty were invited to wander up and down the "Haunted Halls" of Tennessee from 7:30 - 9:00 p.m. At 11:00 p.m., the girls had their own Halloween party, with costumes, games, fortune telling, and awards. Beverly Fannin and Donna Smith from second floor won "best door." First floor won "best floor" and received $15.

Wednesday night was an exciting night as all the ghosts and goblins at Trevecca were let loose to trick-or-treat in the dorms, more tricks than treats being pulled.

At 10:00 p.m. the same night, everyone crowded into the Student Center to see who won the best costume awards. Two horrible looking creatures covered with oil won best costume for the boys.

So Halloween has come and gone but wait till next year! The spooks'll be bigger and better than ever!

ALONE WITH GOD

by Jonda Dement

Sunday afternoon was beautiful; and having more than my share of time, I found myself in communion with my Lord. After sharing with Him my hopes, desires, needs, and frustrations, I resigned myself to being quiet and allowing Him to speak to me. The fellowship was wonderful as I lingered there on my knees, safe, secure, and assured of His presence.

Suddenly the solitude of the moment was interrupted--urgent voices sounded forth from the radio with the news of war in the Middle East. Still in His presence, I expressed my desire for His will to be done. I felt perplexed and pondered the thought of this loving God soon growing tired of being patient with our race as we toyed fatally with eternal souls. Burdened, I asked the Lord to lift me up.

God answers prayer! Soon bells were ringing victoriously to proclaim the news of "To God Be The Glory." It was as though two mighty forces were at work in my soul. In one ear I heard of war and its consequences, while in the other... "great things He has done, so loved the world that He gave us His Son..." As I knelt there that moment in the presence of Almighty God, I rejoiced in the fact that God was on His throne and in full control of any situation. Feeling lost and unimportant in a world which had again indulged in war and so unworthy and inadequate in the sight of a God, who had "...opened the life gate that all may go in..." a strange sense of renewed strength and security surrounded me, and I knew I could go forth from that place of worship with a new assurance of His love.

There is strength in the time of weakness and a light in the hour of darkness. Jesus is our only source of strength and light, without which, any man will perish.

"In the fear of the Lord is strong confidence; and His children shall have a place of refuge." Psalms 14:26.

Christian Worker's Association . . . in Action

by Sharon Petry

Christians in C.W.A. are involved for Christ here in Nashville. Each weekend there are faithful ones who reach out to those in need. God is looking on each avenue of service, I'm sure.

Our president, Michael Clyburn, is doing a good job of leadership, and the captains of the various works are doing their jobs well. All participants in this outreach are appreciated. May God bless each one.

A new opportunity to serve has been opened to us at Spencer Youth Center.

If you aren't involved in C.W.A. do become active with us in the various works. We will appreciate your prayers as we go out each weekend to be instruments used of God.

COMPASSION ON THE MULTITUDE (Mark 8:2)

Compassion on the multitude-
The Master heard their cry;
He broke and blessed abundant food
To more than satisfy.

The multitude is hungry now
For manna from above,
And only Jesus can endow
With food of life and love.

Oh, may my spirit be endued
With love divine, I pray.
Compassion on the multitude-
The challenge rings today!

LYCEUM PRESENTATIONS: "ST. JOAN" and "TRUTH"

By Sharon Haney and Linda Cramer

If you happened to attend the play entitled "Saint Joan" put on by the Alpha-Omega Players, you would have a pretty good idea of who this remarkable woman was. If, by chance, you missed it, the play was the first entertainment of this year's Lyceum Series season.

The actual performance was given on Friday, November 2, in the sanctuary of College Hill and lasted a total of an hour and forty-five minutes. The cast was made up of five members portraying eleven characters, who put on the highlights of the play. The original play was written by George Bernard Shaw.

In the play and history both, Saint Joan was a young French maid, a spokesman of God in the battle against the English. She led them to victory and was later burned at the stake for her commitment, which everyone thought was against the Church. However, her faith kept her true to Him and she was willing to die for His cause. Her memory still lives on.

Around 200 people attended this dramatic presentation, which proved to be an evening well spent.

"Truth," a well-known inter-denominational gospel group, presented the second program of the Lyceum Series, Monday night, November 5, at 8:00 p.m. in McClurkan.

Organized a little over three years ago, "Truth" has appeared on television with such outstanding singers as Anita Bryant and Pat Boone, as well as on taped sessions of the Billy Graham Crusades. They travel approximately 35 weeks of the year, going all over the country making personal appearances at high schools and colleges. Their concert here at Trevecca was one such performance. They are now on a tour which started in August and will end the middle of December.

Their witnessing is done not only through their music, both live and on record (they have made about six), but also through their daily lives and the small incidences and scriptures they share with audiences wherever they go.

"Truth" is a living testimony of twenty young people serving God, using their musical talent to proclaim the real "truth" of Christ in song. The variety of music they sing is broad - from old hymns to the sound of the newest Gaither tunes - but their message is always the same: the never-changing personality of Christ.

Project Invasion

by Gary Hancock

For ages Trevecca students have complained about the monastic existence they have had to live secluded from the world on "holy hill." "Give us a chance to witness," they cried. So along came C.W.A.

Still the students were unsatisfied. "Is there no way we can contribute a large portion to a church, even if we are not able to sing, play, or preach?"

So along came Project Invasion. Project Invasion was the brainchild of our own Chaplain Neil Wiseman. Chaplain Wiseman envisioned a great day when teams of Trevecca students would fan out to churches within a few hours drive of Nashville. He saw them singing group specials, teaching Sunday School classes, leading congregational singing, and preaching.

And November 11th was that day. Early Sunday morning, groups were driving off, heading for churches as far away as Louisville and Birmingham. These groups consisted of students who drove, sang, taught, played instruments, testified, and preached. Everyone, regardless of talent, was welcome.

Don York, who did much of the planning and leg-work for Project Invasion, said it was "an outreach program providing an opportunity for Trevecca students to minister in churches within an approximate 150 mile radius of Nashville."

Invasion groups received publicity on radio, in newspapers, and church bulletins. The teams' arrivals were awaited with great anticipation.

Over 175 students left Sunday morning at times ranging from 4:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m., all expecting God to work.

And He did. By Sunday afternoon, reports were coming from all over telling of various experiences.

Public Relations, its co-sponsor, gave financial help to this project, making it a wonderful spiritual success.

Plans for future Invasions are becoming complete. The next one will probably be during Youth Emphasis Week in winter quarter.

Mt. Vernon... or Trevecca?

by Kathy White

A great many of us at Trevecca feel that Trevecca is the best Nazarene college around. But would the students from other Nazarene colleges feel the same as we do? To find out, this reporter talked with Rich Wagoner, a transfer from Mount Vernon.

When asked if any aspect of Mount Vernon is better than Trevecca, Rich said, "The sports program at MVNC is broader than it is at Trevecca. I also like Mt. Vernon's campus better. It is a new campus and has plenty of room in which to roam."

As for Mt. Vernon's dress code, Rich said that it is about the same as Trevecca's. "Of course, the girls (at Mt. Vernon) can wear jeans, but that is due mostly to the extreme cold weather."

Something New! - The Public Affairs Club

by Janice Carmack

On Mondays during chapel in Sc. 304 at 10:30, something different is taking place. The old is becoming new - TNC's history club has newly reorganized to become the Public Affairs Club.

The club president, Mark Graham; Vice-President, Bracken Ingram; Secretary-Treasurer, Susan Cleckner; and sponsor, Mr. Edwin LeJeune make up the backbone of this year's club.

Actually, the Public Affairs Club is the official club of the history, political science, and social science departments. However, anyone interested in politics, history, cultural developments, or social science fields are welcome to join. The goals of the club are to generate an interest in history, acquaint students with historical sites in Middle Tennessee, and to create an awareness of current events and produce informed discussions and attitudes about them. Professor LeJeune feels the latter is the most important, for he says that Christians have a definite place in the field of politics so they should get actively involved. He further stated that Christians should not be isolated, as many become on Trevecca's campus.

The club has plans for many activities and benefits for the student body this year. One is to bring a system of newspaper stands about TNC - that being the friendliness of our students toward strangers and fellow students. However, Mount Vernon has a more relaxed atmosphere, according to Rich, since the college is in a small community.

Finally, Rich was asked if there is any aspect of Trevecca that he likes better than Mt. Vernon. He answered, "The spirituality of TNC is better, as far as the student body as a whole is concerned. Also, Trevecca students are more mature than Mt. Vernon Students, due to the presence of upperclassmen."

Trevecca is pleased to welcome all transfers, whether from Mt. Vernon or some other campus. May your involvement here be an enriching one, and may your blessings be abundant.

on the campus. This would aid in informing Trevecca's students of world affairs as well as those in domestic areas. The stands will be located throughout the campus in standard newspaper vending machines. A bulletin board with various articles and announcements of public events at TNC, as well as in Nashville and other surrounding schools and colleges, is also planned. A third plan includes speakers of prominent political backgrounds during winter quarter. Some speakers being considered are Howard Baker, Governor Dunn, and a few less well-known politicians. A forum is planned with members of the community and students at a round-table discussion considering issues such as the energy crisis, Middle East situation, etc. These discussions may be presented in the informal setting of the Student Center. One other plan at this time is a trip during spring quarter. Steve Whitehead, chairman of the committee, is looking into the possibilities of a group trip to Virginia.

Mark Graham states that the Public Affairs Club "wants to be a service organization to bring out topics to make the students aware of what's going on." Why not visit or join the Public Affairs Club? It could prove to be an adventure.

FORENSIC FATLINGS

by Kathy White

Several Trevecca students for the past few weeks have invaded the hallowed halls of Louisiana Tech University and Butler University. Why? To compete with other colleges and universities in such events as debate, interpretation of drama, poetry, prose, and oratory. These "forensic fatlings" as they are fondly called by their "humble servant and leader," Gary Coulter, are Carl Hall, Mark Graham, Sharon Williams, Tim Pusey, Debbi Kiddy, Merry Hampton, Jana Slone, Mike Coffman, Debbie Vinecke, Tracy Spaur, Danny Williams, Hank Spaulding, and Kathy White. The co-leader of this fearless group is none other than Herb Agee.

The first trip of the year was a journey to Louisiana Tech in Ruston, Louisiana, on October 26 and 27. Success was abundant, as five students brought home certificates of superior or excellent. Those awarded certificates were Carl Hall - superior in oratory; Mark Graham - superior in dramatic interpretation; Sharon Williams - excellent in interpretation of poetry; Debbi Kiddy superior in storytelling for children; and Kathy White - excellent in storytelling for children. Also, Carl and Mark made it to the finals. Carl brought home a third place award in oratory, while Mark took fourth place in drama. Since Carl received third place, he will receive an invitation to the national forensic competition in the spring. In addition, both Carl and Mark will receive invitations to a tournament of finalists.

Traveling to Athens, Tennessee, that same week-end for debate were Merry Hampton, Mike Coffman, Tracy Spaur, and Debbie Vinecke. Congratulations to the teams of Merry and Mike, who won three rounds out of five, and to Tracy and Debbie, who won one round.

The following weekend, November 2 and 3, Carl, Mark, Sharon, Jana, Debbie, Merry, and Kathy journeyed to Butler University in Indianapolis, Indiana, for an individual events tournament, competing against the toughest forensic groups in the Midwest. Success was again with Mark, who made it to the finals, and brought home a beautiful blue mug for third place in interpretation of drama. With this award, he will also be invited to compete in the national contest.

The final trip of the fall quarter was this past weekend, November 9 and 10, when the entire crew will travel to Montevallo, Alabama, for competition in both debate and individual events. Competing in dramatic duo were Carl Hall and Mark Graham, and Sharon Williams and Kathy White. Carl also competed in oratory, and Debbi Kiddy and Danny Williams were entered in interpretation. The debaters were Merry Hampton, Tracy Spaur, Mike Coffman, and Hank Spaulding.

Gary Coulter is in the process of organizing a chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, an honorary fraternal organization for intercollegiate debaters, competitive individual speakers, and non-classroom speakers. Its purpose is to promote scholarship, especially in the field of forensic speaking in colleges and universities. Anyone meeting the requirements for membership and interested in joining the chapter should contact either Herb Agee or Gary Coulter.

The Trevecca Cascades: Preparation For Diamond Anniversary

by Brian McGuire

Probably most of the students on campus have noticed the many stakes with blue colors tied on them and wondered what they were. Few students know much of, or are even aware of, the significance of them. Nashville First Church of the Nazarene, under the 75th Anniversary Committee, headed by Nona Owensby, has voted on and accepted a plan to build a beautiful Cascades in front of the Administration Building.

Mr. Harold Morris, of Apollo Contracting Corporation, a member of Nashville First, and an active member of the President's Advisory Council, has assumed the Chairmanship of the project, and his firm is already working on the final stages in the planning of the Cascades. The President's Advisory Council's purpose is to raise funds for the college. Each member receives the Presidential Plaque. Mr. Morris states that the actual work on the Cascades will begin in February or March of 1974, and will probably be finished by June of the same year. Ron Lederer of Southern Land Surveying, Inc. will be the landscape architect.

Nashville First Church is donating this in memory of their 75th anniversary, and in celebration of Trevecca's 75th anniversary. The Cascades is one of the first projects for the campus's beautification, many more of which are planned, to be finished by 1976, the year of Trevecca's Diamond Anniversary celebration.

The Trevecca Cascades will be built on the same concept as that at Cheekwood, but will not be a replica. The Cascades will start directly in front of the Ad Building with a pond containing a double cascade, out of which water will gush. A stream lined with rocks, plants, trees and benches will meander down the lawn of the Ad Building. At one point the stream will go underneath a footbridge that will connect one of the many paths and sidewalks lining the Cascades. A reflecting pond will be situated halfway down the slope, over which there will be a viewing platform. Out of this pond the stream will continue, flowing over several waterfalls to a final reflecting pond at the foot of the slope. This pond will contain three fountainheads to shoot the water two feet into the air.

Abundant shade trees will line the Cascades.

The Cascades will add much to the beautification of Trevecca's campus, and there are many more such projects in the planning stages now. The year 1976, Trevecca's Diamond Anniversary, will show a very different and new Trevecca.

A TOUCH OF LOVE

Who can of love unravel all the truth.

and I who know it, though perhaps not least of all,

how should I as a poet sing divulge its depth of mystery?

Yet to know in part is to know a piece of whole, to share my part may be to give another still more light on the touch of love and its warm glow.

Is not love a song, a melody of highest strain with golden tongues aflame, welding the metals of two hearts as one?

Is it not a moment tender and pure as is the coming of morning drops of dew to the petals of a rose.

the mist of the night refreshing with life for the brighter day?

Is it not thus a feeling that lifts the soul as a gull on wing to ride the ocean air, each breeze perhaps to lift to greater heights as long as love is there?

Yes, all these it is, but so much more;

Love is not only a feeling, for as does the gull,

subject to the wind rise and fall, so do those touches of warmth to the heart we call love come and go.

More than a feeling that does not remain, it is faith in another, a trust not to be broken, sharing...giving...

caring...living; for love is life at its fullest.

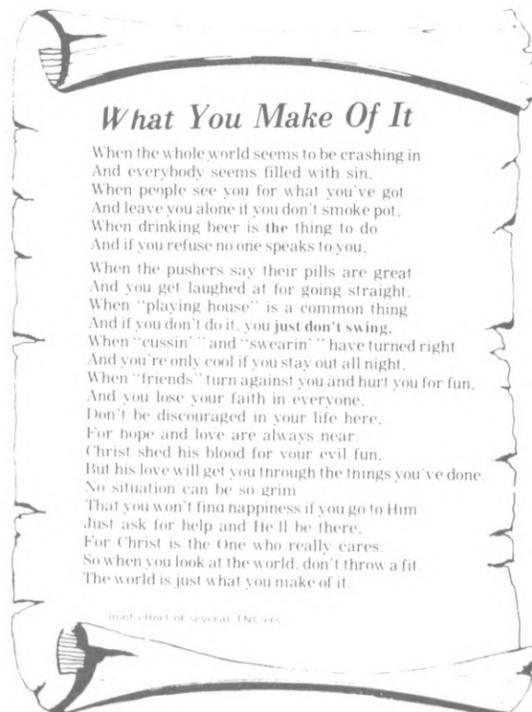

And though this love within my heart can only claim a touch of such to be, still it is faithful, trusting, sharing, giving, caring, living...

a touch of His Love in me.

What You Make Of It

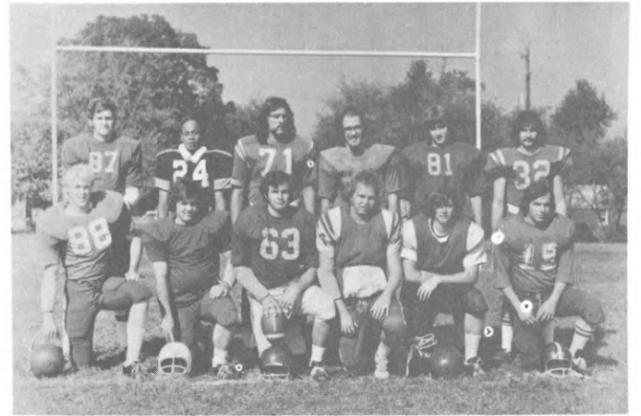

When the whole world seems to be crashing in
And everybody seems filled with sin,
When people see you for what you've got
And leave you alone if you don't smoke pot,
When drinking beer is the thing to do
And if you refuse no one speaks to you,
When the pushers say their pills are great
And you get laughed at for going straight,
When "playing house" is a common thing
And if you don't do it, you just don't swing,
When "cussin'" and "swearin'" have turned right
And you're only cool if you stay out all night,
When "friends" turn against you and hurt you for fun,
And you lose your faith in everyone,
Don't be discouraged in your life here,
For hope and love are always near,
Christ shed his blood for your evil fun,
But his love will get you through the things you've done,
No situation can be so grim
That you won't find happiness if you go to Him
Just ask for help and He'll be there,
For Christ is the One who really cares,
So when you look at the world, don't throw a fit,
The world is just what you make of it.

TENNIS

by Beth White

On October 2, TNC had a City College Tennis Tournament with Belmont, Lipscomb, and Peabody. This was a first for Trevecca and the tennis team.

Brenda Patterson was the only one on the team who went into the finals, with 6-4, 2-6, and 6-4. This was a hard match for her, for she had had only two hours sleep (studying for a mid-term). Though she didn't win her next step, she went down fighting.

Frankie Mayo of Lipscomb took first place in singles over Teresa Thompson of Belmont. It was a well played match and was won on play-offs. It ended in 6-4, 4-6, 6-6 and the first five out of nine. Belmont took off with the team trophy winning five out of six shots for it.

Doubles went well. TNC didn't make it into them, though they put up a good try.

Playing in the tournament were Nancy Mackey, Coleen "Kool Aid" Seitter, Dab Hadley, Jane Shelton, Brenda Patterson, and Alice "Billie Jean" Hall. All the girls did a great job and gave Belmont, Lipscomb, and Peabody a good match.

LATE NEWS

Purple and White Game

by Greg Anderson

The 1972-73 Trojans have a great deal of potential this year, as evidenced in the Purple and White game played Friday, October 19. The White team won, with a score of 67-63. The game was played after only two weeks of official practice and with offense only a week old. The entire team worked together in this game, with the aid of Coach Brent Godbey, this being his first coaching assignment...and he walked off a winner.

sadie hawkins day

by Cindy Swisshelm

Friday, November 2, is one day we all will remember. Bib overalls, calico shirts, shoes and straw hats was the scene on Trevecca's campus for Sadie Hawkins Day. At 3:00 p.m. the action really started when the Sweetheart Chase began on the football field, but eventually ended up somewhere else. All the guys that had been asked out had to be caught by the girls that asked them out, which in some cases took hours. Climbing telephone poles, on cars and up trees were some of the complications of the catch.

Most of the girls took their dates out to dinner that evening - going through the gestures of a perfect gentlemen: driving the car, opening doors, paying for the meal and the last "familiar" scene, taking them to the park.

A Sadie Hawkins party started that evening at 9:30 p.m. Entertainment was furnished by the new Hee-Haw type band called the "Me Bow-Chicken Legs." Members of the band are Rickey Creel, Johnny Bledsoe, Guy Priest, Jerry Crummer, and Mike Cole. Candy kisses were bought at the kissing booth for 1-5 cents. At the marriage booth, Marrin' Sam (Louie Weaver) performed the ceremony while Shotgun Harry (Dale Kendal) sang for the wedding. Many of the guys were locked in jail while the girl stood outside with the key to the door.

Some fifty couples participated in the activities of this party sponsored by the K-ettes Club.

This is the second year for Circle K-ettes, the woman's branch of the international Kwanis Club, and they are off to a good start. With the addition of new members, membership now totals thirty.

Trick or Treat was their first activity of the year. A new activity they sponsored was Sadie Hawkins Day. Also planned by the K-ettes was the Midnight Special, which brought out alot of campus talent.

Circle K-ettes are excited about creating social activities for students. The success of this quarter was due to the great participation of the students. So, hopefully, next quarter will be even better. An event to look forward to already scheduled is the Womanless Beauty Pageant to be held in January.

On Sadie Hawkins Day, the girl's make ready to chase and land their "catch."

Moments of funness: Do You know when a motorcycle was first mentioned in the Bible? "And Joshua's Triumph was heard all over town!"
