TREVECCA NAZARENE COLLEGE, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

January 19, 1959

36 New Students Register This Quarter

Ladies trio: Marilyn Stucki, Lois Conkey, Yvonne Oakes; Men's quartet: Chuck Acheson, Gene Cook, Jim Hess, Joe Moses.

Two Groups To Tour Florida In Interest of Mackey Library

On January 23, 1959, two groups of student singers will leave for a tour of Florida in the interest of the Mackey Library.

With Miss Marie Peery as representative a ladies trio will sing. Lois Conkey, soprano, from Barberton, Ohio; Yvonne Oakes, alto, hailing from Clarksville, Tennessee; and Marilyn Stucki, second soprano, who comes from Mobile, Alabama, compose the trio.

Traveling with Rev. C. E. Keys, field representative, is a male quartet whose members are: Chuck Acheson, tenor, from Butler, Pennsylvania; Gene Cook, second tenor, whose home is in Covington, Kentucky; Jim Hess, baritone, and Joe Moses, bass, both coming from Roanoke, Virginia.

These groups will cover all sections of the state of Florida, spending a week in the area of Miami. Representing the college, these two groups will speak and sing in a different church each evening. On February 9 the students and representatives will end their tour and start back for the campus.

Pray for your representatives as they go that they may receive a blessing and thus be a blessing to the people of this educational zone.

I RESOLVE

Here are some good resolutions for any day:

I will study the language of gentlemen, and refuse to use words that bite and tones that crush.

I will practice patience at home lest my temper break through unexpectedly and disgrace me.

I will remember that my neighbors have troubles enough without unloading mine on them.

I will excuse others' faults and failures as often and fully as I expect others to be lenient with mine.

I will be a friend under trying tests and wear everywhere a good-will face, unchilled by aloofness.

I will gladden my nature by smiling out loud on every fair occasion, and by outlook optimistically.

I will pray frequently, think good thoughts, believe in my fellow man, and do a full day's work without fear or favor.

Watchnight Service Is Held In Chapel

Trevecca students were privileged to participate in the school's first New Year's Eve Watchnight Service, which was sponsored by the Ministerial Association. Around one hundred and fifty students were in attendance in the chapel for the services, which began at 11:00 P.M.

Ed Couey, president of the Ministerial Association, conducted the program. The congregation participated in several good hymns, with Al Wood leading the singing. After the opening prayer, a ladies' trio composed of Lois Conkey, Yvonne Oakes, and Marilyn Stucki sang "When We See Christ." Testimonies of special blessings were then given. "If You Know the Lord" was sung by Kemp Higginbotham, Paul Jackson, Sammy Phipps, and Herman Rouse. Sylvia Young's piano solo, "Hiding in Thee," added to the New Year's Eve program.

Dr. H. J. Adams Attends General Council Meeting

Dr. Homer Adams, dean of the college, left Monday, January 5, for the General N.Y.P.S. council meeting at Kansas City, and arrived home Friday, January 9, 1959. The council dealt with matters such as making plans for Junior Society and N.Y.P.S. curriculum, N.Y.P.S. conference, N.Y.P.S. publications, and plans for the general convention in 1960. The council meetings were held in The Showers of Blessings' studio at Headquarters. President Stowe presided with Ponder Gilliland leading the discussions and outlining the work.

There is one representative from each college zone plus three representatives at large who go to the General N.Y.P.S. council meetings.

Dr. Adams says that he saw a number of former Trevecca people and ate lunch with them on Thursday. The former Trevecca students now in seminary or at Headquarters, sent their regards to Treveccans.

Dr. Adams also said that it was a thrilling experience to be there, and to "feel the pulse" of the Church of the Nazarene at Headquarters and also to associate with the fine men on the council.

Large Enrollment For Winter Quarter Registration

According to the Dean of Admission's office, Trevecca welcomed twenty-nine new college students and three new high school students this winter quarter.

College students from Nashville are: James Bryan, Harry Johnson, Mildred McDowell, and Bonnie Peach. Other college students from Tennessee are: James Craig, Goodlettsville; Virginia Detharidge, Crossville; Lyle Parker, Carthage; Noah Roper, Doyle; Mary Savage, Quebeck; Roy Shields, Brentwood; and James Stacks, Memphis. Two new high school students from this state are Ray Brunet, Tennessee City, and Eddie Oats, Nashville.

Pennsylvania is well represented with four new college students: Robert Ballinger, Addison; Carol Brown, Kittanning; Sarah Agnes Flick, Worthington; and Kenneth Lee, Washington.

Virginia sent two students: John Baker, Damascus; and Charles Hoover, Staunton; and West Virginia's representative is Kermit Hudson from Charleston.

Wayne Gibson, Bowling Green; Forest Freeman Harvey, Albany; Jesse Sims, Waynesburg; and Lois Jean Wells, Lancaster, hail from Kentucky. Lois Jean is in high school.

Florida, our "sunshine state," sends us Betty Helms, who is no stranger on our campus.

Franklin Crawford, Blackshear; Doris Drake, Donaldsonville; and Emory Garner, Trion, will represent our neighboring state of Georgia.

Shirley Davis, Mary Jane Harmon, and Ernest Rankin are from Goodland, Kansas; Bessemer, Alabama; and Pleasantville, Iowa; respectively.

Four more students have enrolled and four more are expected to enroll this quarter.

"The Crossroads" and "A Boy and His Bible" were the films sponsored by the Sophomore Class on Saturday evening, January 3.

Both of these films had a deep spiritual meaning and could very easily be the means of influencing all who saw them to strive to have an even closer walk with God than ever before.

Bennie Garber Dies; Former T. N. C. Student

On Saturday night, January 11, Bennie Joe Garber, a graduate of Trevecca High School in 1956, died suddenly, the victim of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The tasteless, odorless fumes from a loose muffler apparently seeped into their borrowed car and overcame the former student and Miss Rena England, of Sparta, Tennessee, as they sat talking with the engine idling.

The two were taken to General Hospital where one of the first to see them was Bennie's older brother, Leroy, also a former Trevecca student. Now a pre-med student at Vanderbilt, Leroy is employed at General as night admitting clerk. Miss England was employed as a record clerk at the same hospital.

A native of Johnson City, Tennessee, Bennie was in Nashville on business and had planned to return home by air early Saturday afternoon. However, his flight was canceled and he decided to remain here overnight.

The victims were pronounced dead on arrival at General Hospital and their deaths ruled accidental by the district attorney general's investigator.

The Time Is Now

Another school year is well underway with assigned reading, reports, term papers, tests and the like already at hand. So many times we are prone to look back over last year's work as a lost cause and we keep trying to say, "If only—" or "Oh, I wish—."

Let's not look back to last year. It is history—a closed door. No matter how much we try we cannot open that door again. Nothing can be changed.

The only thing for us to do is use our actions of last year as a guide for this year. When we realize the mistakes we made, let's not make the same ones over again. We must let our failures act as stepping stones and not as stumbling blocks.

Only God knows what 1959 holds in store for us, but we can make the best of whatever comes by trusting in Him. The time is NOW. Let's do the job at hand.

A Christian Gentleman

A sudden heart attack took the life of a wonderful Christian gentleman during the Christmas holidays in Nashville, Tennessee.

Mr. Edgar Lewis loved God and loved his family. He lived not for himself but for his Lord and his loved ones. He knew the true meaning of the word Christian; his life was that meaning in motion.

Little did many of us know when we talked to him that last Monday night that before the sunrise of another day he would be called away to be with his Master.

He leaves a great Christian heritage, an exemplary life which is both a blessing and a challenge to every Christian to "so live that when his summons comes to join the innumerable caravan which moves to that mysterious realm where each shall take his chamber in the silent halls of death," and be called from this troublesome world to take his place in the Heavenly kingdom, he may leave in passing a Christian testimony as rich and glowing, as Christ-like, as that of Mr. Walter Edgar Lewis.

Miss Joyce Lewis, a senior at Trevecca, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lewis.

"Everything's going to be all right."

Adieu Old Year

Adieu old year—with your anti-quinities.

Take your activities back into the pages of history.

Make way for the new year with its anticipations, hopes and opportunities.

Take your dusty memories and pack them away in Halls of Reminiscing;

Give place to this year's life. Go, old year, into seclusion—never to come back again except on the wings of memory, on the parchment of history, or in the fires of remembering.

You've had your day, old year; ever fiber of action used to weave your garment is woven with a steadfastness which may never be changed or altered. You lived, now you're gone—into the grave of the non-existent. Life begins again with the new year.

Adieu old year—Hail to the New!
—MILDRED PEARSON

And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day,
Shall fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away.

—Longfellow

Music must take rank as the highest of the fine arts—as the one which, more than any other, ministers to human welfare.

—Herbert Spencer

Are You Doing Your Part?

It takes a lot of work to keep Trevecca looking beautiful. It is a job that never ceases, and it needs someone who is capable of this responsibility.

Trevecca is very fortunate in having Mr. Hugh Martin as the man for the task. He can be seen hurrying over the campus any hour of the day loaded down with tools and equipment. He and his helpers work on the outside keeping the grass cropped closely to the ground, the hedges trimmed, the leaves raked, and doing various other things. In the dorms he is kept busy year round fixing the locks on doors, windows, and screens, renewing light bulbs, taking down and putting up bunk beds, and repairing heaters. His familiar "Man in the Hall" in McKay and Hardy means that he is going to someone's rescue!

Mr. Martin always takes time to be friendly with the students. He has a smile and a word for all. A wonderful Christian, he has the virtues of patience and long-suffering—especially when doing student-directed repairs.

It has been said that behind every good man there is a good woman, and this is no exception. Mrs. Martin is also a very important person at Trevecca. She and her "girls" are also on the job. She is responsible for the nice work done in the McClurkan, Fine Arts, and Administration Buildings. They do a commendable piece of work on the back-breaking tasks of scrubbing, waxing, buffing, and dusting.

Although the Martins are an integral part of Trevecca, how much of this neat campus and tidy school buildings is taken for granted? Remember, the Martins have enough to do without making more for them. That they will appreciate!

For Girls Only

Say, girls, how would you like to have a date every night for a week? Well, you won't have to write Jean Bruce to find the answer or how to do it because the Junior Class has the answer for you.

Keep your ears open and you will be hearing some information about this week beginning January 26.

Save those pennies and polish up that charm and get all set for a swell time!

Nathan Milstein Is Guest at Symphony

Nathan Milstein, one of the greatest violinists of this day, was guest soloist with the Nashville Symphony, January 12 and 13.

Students who bought season tickets at the beginning of the school year were privileged to hear Mr. Milstein as well as the third Symphony Concert in a series of six for the 1958-59 season. The symphony is under the direction of Mr. Guy Taylor, and concerts are presented in the War Memorial Auditorium.

Mr. Milstein first came to this country in 1929, surrounded by a bright aura of European acclaim. In his debut with the Philadelphia Orchestra and the New York Philharmonic Symphony the violinist immediately established himself as a fabulous technician and a supremely sensitive interpreter. Since then, his tours here and abroad and his performances for Capital Records have caused his reputation to increase with each succeeding season.

The New York World-Telegram and Sun says of him, "One of the reigning masters of the bow."

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Tuesday night as I slid around the hedge, stumbled over the first step, missed the next two, and as a final act landed in a crash at the library door, I decided to just sit and think my problem out. Something must be done!

As I looked about me and stared into the faces of the blinding lights in almost unnecessary places, I was almost tempted to try to transplant one of them myself. But instead I did the usual task. Disgustedly, I picked me, my books and a few other articles up and made my way in a disheveled state to the library (felt more like visiting the dispensary) to try to concentrate on World Literature amid the aches and pains of life.

Why am I so clumsy? My eyesight is 20-20. My foundation is steady and sure, but the shadow on those steps is my definite "down-fall."

What am I trying to say? Why do we not have a light directly by the steps at the side entrance of the library? It is needed badly (my knees will prove it) and others will confirm it, and WE WILL be looking for it.

Sincerely,

The Interested Injured

P.S.

For jumpy nerves that dark, spooky place is terrific! Try it sometime for the scare of your life!!!

C. W. A. Notes

By PAT YOUNG

Another new year, another new quarter for Christian work. There is one thing that is not new at the beginning of a new year—a New Year's resolution. No doubt many have made vows to the Lord concerning service to Him. This is all well and good, but will these vows be strictly held to and kept?

Pat Young

What an improved world there would be if these resolutions were observed!

At any rate, we can do better service to the Lord by planning our lives in such a way this year that time is allotted for Christian work.

There are still just as many needing the true heartfelt gospel. And our debt to them was not paid in full in 1958. The fields are ripe unto harvest and laborers are sorely needed to reap this great harvest of souls. Oh that Christian workers might catch a glimpse of the possibilities of serving God! How his heart must be grieved when legitimate things crowd out the necessary giving out of the Gospel message.

The burden of sin is so heavy, but are we interested in seeing that burden lifted?

Deuteronomy 1:21—"Behold, the Lord thy God hath set the land before thee: go up and possess it, as the Lord God of thy fathers hath said unto thee; fear not, neither be discouraged."

Freshmen Must Entertain Sophomores

Because freshmen have failed to break the "cake-code," they will have to entertain the sophomores with a party. In addition to the party, the sophomores have earned points which will count toward becoming "Class of the Year."

There were three clues leading to the cake. The first one was solved and it led to the bell tower. The clue read: "Tradition still rings in our hearts." The second clue, as they say in the arts, "every cloud has a silver lining," led to the Fine Arts Auditorium where the information about the cake was pinned to the lining of one of the drapes. The cake was hidden under a crack in the walk which leads to the Fine Arts Building. This clue was, "It hasn't been cracked long, but we still follow it."

Each of these clues was in different codes and this made it even harder to break the codes.

It is hoped that even though the freshmen did not break the code they had as much fun trying to solve it as the sophomores had making it up.

MISS PEACH

Beetin' the Air

By Bass Pearson

(Beeter)

It's a new year! As we look back over the past year—it's been wonderful and we've gained much ground spiritually; but now, looking into the future, we can reach for greater heights because the flame has been rekindled and is burning brightly.

We are happy to have all our new students this winter quarter. We welcome each one of you to our campus.

The basketball practice games brought quite a bit of enthusiasm with them. From all appearances it seems to me that this will be a good year for basketball. Let's make it so.

Best wishes to Margie Dover and also to Mary Webb. For further information, see them.

I am sitting here now in the library watching the students as they come and go. In fact, just a few minutes ago, Russell Root came and sat down at a table. Then one minute later he got up and left. Now he's sitting down again at his table. Some people do come and go! It's interesting to watch people. Try it sometime.

Mrs. Mackey has some very efficient help in the library; namely, Emma Lee Nelson, Wynona McNeil, Berma DuBose, Ruby Spear, and Paul Agner.

We were very sorry to hear about the death of Joyce Lewis' father. Let's continue to pray for this family.

Let's also continue to pray for Anna Kollio's uncle, who suffered a heart attack, and Ruby Spear's mother, who is in serious condition in the hospital. Wendell Foole's father underwent surgery recently. It's no time to let up on our prayers.

Santa Claus was good to lots of T.N.C. students. In fact, here is a list of the names of some our students and the gifts they received: Samuel David Phipps, a red wagon; Bob Cook, a balloon; Karen Cox, a doll; Nancy Rushing, a "play pretty"; Gene Cook, voice lessons; Sue Hayes, a bag of switches; Judy Leonard, The Three Little Pigs storybook; Linda Taylor, piano lessons; Joe Moses, a whipping; and Gail Patrick, a new hair-do. You know, I could run this in the ground. But the funny thing about it is that I'm not!

Nancy Murphy and Nancy Adams have volunteered to grade all test papers for every class this quarter. Could we ask for kinder girls?

I've rambled enough so—in closing, let's join Voltaire as he says, "I disagree entirely with everything you say, but I will defend to the death your right to say it."

New Year's Resolutions

Bob Holderby—to try to do everything better because everything I do is wrong.

Sylvia Young—to make a "A" in harmony.

Sammy Phipps—to act more bashful than Herman Rouse.

Dr. Wise—to be a brighter and more devout Christian.

Marquita Thomas—to make better grades in New Testament.

Richard Stephens—to try not to get in "dutch" as much as I did last year.

Helen Burch—to stay "up" in Miss Person's class.

Mrs. Orndoff—to be a better Christian.

Sue Hayes—not to giggle any more.

Hessie Sublett—to go on a diet.

Margie Dover—to make an "A" in music history.

Ann Clayton—to eat more, sleep more, and study less.

Freshmen Present

Friday Night Program

On Friday evening, January 2, students who had enrolled at Trevecca for the Winter Quarter were introduced to those who are now their classmates. After their introduction, a film on "Huckleberry Finn" was shown.

The students who were introduced gave, in addition to their name, their home town and what they are studying here at Trevecca.

The film proved to be as entertaining for the students this year as it was when it was presented last year.

It is hoped that by now the new students feel at home as they have started a new year off in a "new" school.

"Build your church within your heart and take it with you everywhere."

"The Tragedy Of —"

'Twas a month after Christmas

And in all of the classes

The teachers were lecturing

To their lads and their lasses

They were taking down notes

As fast as they could

For they were to study

And study they would

There was Childers in Greek

Chambers in biology,

While Wise was expounding

On a course in psychology.

When out in the lobby

Came an awful crash,

It sounded like Rex

Put a dent in his Nash.

The students came running

From out of their classes

To discover Gene Reynolds

Had forgotten his glasses.

He didn't know the door

Was that close, so they say,

And that is the reason

He met with foul play.

The door was knocked down

And he lay in the middle,

He looked like a guitar

That was meant for a fiddle.

He was quite scratched

His clothes torn a bit—

But I must say for Gene,

"You sure made a hit."

As he picked himself up

From out of the frame

"I hope I'm not tardy!"

I heard him exclaim.

—Ruth Shannon

(This is entirely fictitious and written for the sole purpose to get Gene Reynolds' name in the paper once again.)

Fun In The Student Center, January 10

The Sophomore Class "furnished the fun" for Saturday evening, January 10, at the Student Center. Orval LeJeune, prexy, had a well-planned program for everyone.

Approximately fifty students enjoyed games and refreshments of punch and cookies, from 7:30 to 9:30.

The party was a welcomed change in the course of events for Saturday evenings. The sophomores are still receiving favorable comments on the party. Everyone entered into everything planned and enjoyed the fun.

"Winter Wonderland"

Is Presented By Senior Class

Winter is such a peaceful time of the year. It is a time when people like to reminisce. This truth was portrayed at the Friday evening program, January 9, presented by the Senior Class.

The theme of the program was "Winter Wonderland," which was a sequence to "Autumn Leaves," presented last quarter. The different winters of the past came alive again with songs, readings and organ numbers.

Narrator for the program was Janey Little. Mildred Pearson, director of the program, also wrote several of the readings that were presented. Members of the class and others presented various numbers.

For Jim and Joe and all the rest, I write this poem, you see; Just to answer their request, "Now write a poem for me."

Wedding Bells

During the Christmas holidays wedding bells were ringing for many Trevecca students. December 20 seemed to be the most popular date for most of the weddings.

Jimmy Allen and Lois Eubanks, a former Trevecca student, were married in the First Church of the Nazarene in Sylacauga, Alabama, on December 20. Rev. Aubrey Ponce, pastor at Montgomery, Alabama, was the officiating minister. Rev. J. P. Jernigan, pastor of Sylacauga First Church assisted. Jimmy and Lois now making their home on Lester Avenue.

Eugene Figge, sophomore, and Patricia Gilmer were married in the South Side Church of the Nazarene in Louisville, Kentucky, on December 20. Rev. Daniel C. Figge performed the ceremony. Eugene and Patricia are now living at 95½ Lester Avenue.

Travis Dean Joslin and Catherine Metzger were married at the Calvary Church of the Nazarene in Nashville, Tennessee, on December 20. The officiating minister was Rev. M. E. Redford, uncle of the bride. Travis and Catherine are now living at 64½ Lester Avenue.

Robert E. Field and Zella May Shadowens were married at the Bordeaux Church of the Nazarene on December 20. The pastor of this church, Rev. Melvin Thompson, performed the ceremony. Robert and Zella are now living at 85 Lester Avenue.

William Young and Patricia Losey were married at the Flint Hill Church of the Nazarene in Burlington, Iowa, on December 22. Rev. John T. Friend performed the ceremony. Bill and Pat are now living at 517 Lester Avenue.

Gerald Woods and Paulette Barnes were married at the Church of the Nazarene in Gainesville, Georgia, on December 21. Rev. P. E. Barnes, father of the bride, officiated. Gerald and Paulette are making their home on Lester Avenue.

Be Nonchalant ?

Be nonchalant when—

You discover you have made two dates for the same night.

You write a twelve page theme on the wrong subject.

You discover you locked your keys in the car and your date is due home in ten minutes.

You make our first 99-yard pass right into the hands of the opposite team.

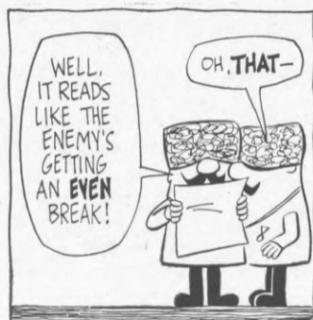

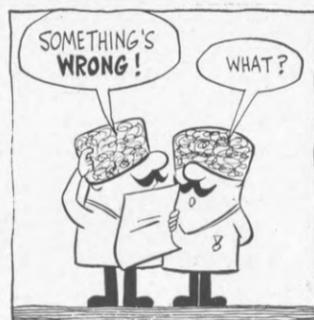

You're reciting memory work for English and your mind suddenly goes blank.

You are typing madly along when you discover the shift key is down.

You are doing one cheer while the other cheerleaders are doing another.

You sit in history class for thirty minutes and then realize that you have history next period.

You tell a boy he can take you home, and later learn that he has a bicycle.

Chatter Box

By Charles Kirby

Once again the bounce of the basketball on the hardwood, the swish of the net, and the yells of exciting spectators filling the interior of the gym have returned to the recreational life on T. N. C. campus. Enthusiasm seems to be building and we hope it continues to climb to the highest peak.

T. A. A. president, Wendell Poole, has set up a schedule that will see each team take the floor more times than ever before. This increase in the number of games will make the season more interesting for the fans and players alike. We are also expecting it to cause more enthusiasm.

It is almost impossible to pick a seasonal champ this early, but we will have to go along with the defending champs of last year, the Alphas. They seem to have speed and of course height, which plays a very important part as to the success of any team in basketball. Even though the Alphas may catch everyone's eye at present, do not overlook the Deltas and Betas. Both teams are capable of putting together a winning combination that could give the Alphas trouble.

Basketball, A Game Of Skills

It is this writer's opinion that basketball is a game of skills. Among these skills are those of passing the ball, dribbling, shooting, catching, jumping for rebounds, out-thinking the opponent and many others. Every student that is physically able should participate in this game. It will not only provide a time of recreation and fun with classmates, but it will tend to develop the body more completely.

Deltas Defeat Alphas In Girls Game

The Delta girls got things rolling with a victory over the Alphas in the season's opener. They were led by Barbara Greer, with poured 10 points through the cords, and Doris Sweeney, who contributed 6 points.

The Alphas could get only 9 points as the Delta defense played tight. Carol Light hit for 7 of the 9 and Barbara Barnett contributed the remaining 2 points. However, these 9 points were not enough to combat the Deltas, so defeat was marked in the books for the Alphas.

Jim Hampton Wins Table Tennis Contest

Before the Christmas holidays the city of Nashville had a table tennis tournament, which took place at the Y.M.C.A.

Jim Hampton and Arnold Spruill, freshmen at T.N.C., took top honors in this tournament. Jim won the city championship and Arnold was runner-up.

The championship was determined by the best three out of five games. Arnold won the first game, Jim won the second, Arnold won the third, and the fourth game was a close one, but Jim finally came out the victor. Then Jim won the final game of the series and was declared the Nashville table tennis champion.

Girl's Basketball

By Kathy Hemmerly
The girls have begun their season of basketball, the first game having been played Saturday, January 10, with the Alphas vs. the Deltas.

There seems to be much enthusiasm this year, as the girls are wearing outfits to match their society colors — Alpha, blue; Beta, red; and Delta, black.

After watching a practice game the teams seem to be pretty well matched. There may be a weak spot in the Beta Society; however competition seems to be high among all teams.

The referees for the season will be Nina Gunter and Justine Knight. Both of these girls are former students and players. They know the rules and are sure to give each team a fair game.

1959 Basketball Season Begins With Alphas Trimming Deltas 53-37

The 1959 basketball season started off with a bang as the defending champion Alphas handed the Deltas a present with "DEFEAT" written on the wrapping.

The Alphas, led by center Ed Sisson's 21 points, never were behind throughout the contest. However, the Deltas managed to keep close on their heels until the last four minutes of action. Going into the final four minutes the score stood 41-36 with the Deltas trying to surge ahead. At this point the Alphas reached out and caught hold of a greater determination to win and threw up a defense that saw only one point chalked up in the scorebook for the Deltas while the Alphas were busy making twelve to clinch the victory.

The Deltas were led by Kirby and Jackson with twelve and eleven points respectively, while Sisson with 21 and Cook with 17 led the Alphas.

Betas Hand Deltas

Second Loss In Row

The Betas were able to hand the Deltas their second loss in as many games by the score of 46-38, being led by Jim Hampton's 23 points.

The Betas took the floor, seeming to be confident of a victory and maintained that confidence throughout the game as they were able to stay in the lead all the way. By halftime they built up a comfortable position, leading 25-12.

The Deltas took the floor at the start of the second half with a greater determination and began swishing the net, trying to close the gap. They were able to throw a scare into the Betas, but not enough for a victory, and a gap of eight points remained between the two teams at the sound of the final buzzer.

The Deltas were led by C. Kirby's 14 points and Paul Jackson's floor play.

Dear Aunt Tildee,

What do you do to cut down a girl's appetite when you take her out with only a dollar in your pocket?

Broke

Dear Busted,

A quick solution would be to pick her up around 7:30 with the confidence she has already consumed a substantial dinner.
