The Decade Of Challenge

"I did not ask to start Trevecca College. God thrust it upon me; it is an institution of providence," said J. O. McClurkan, founder of the college. This thrust of God has pushed the college across these decades through colorful phases of both depression and development.

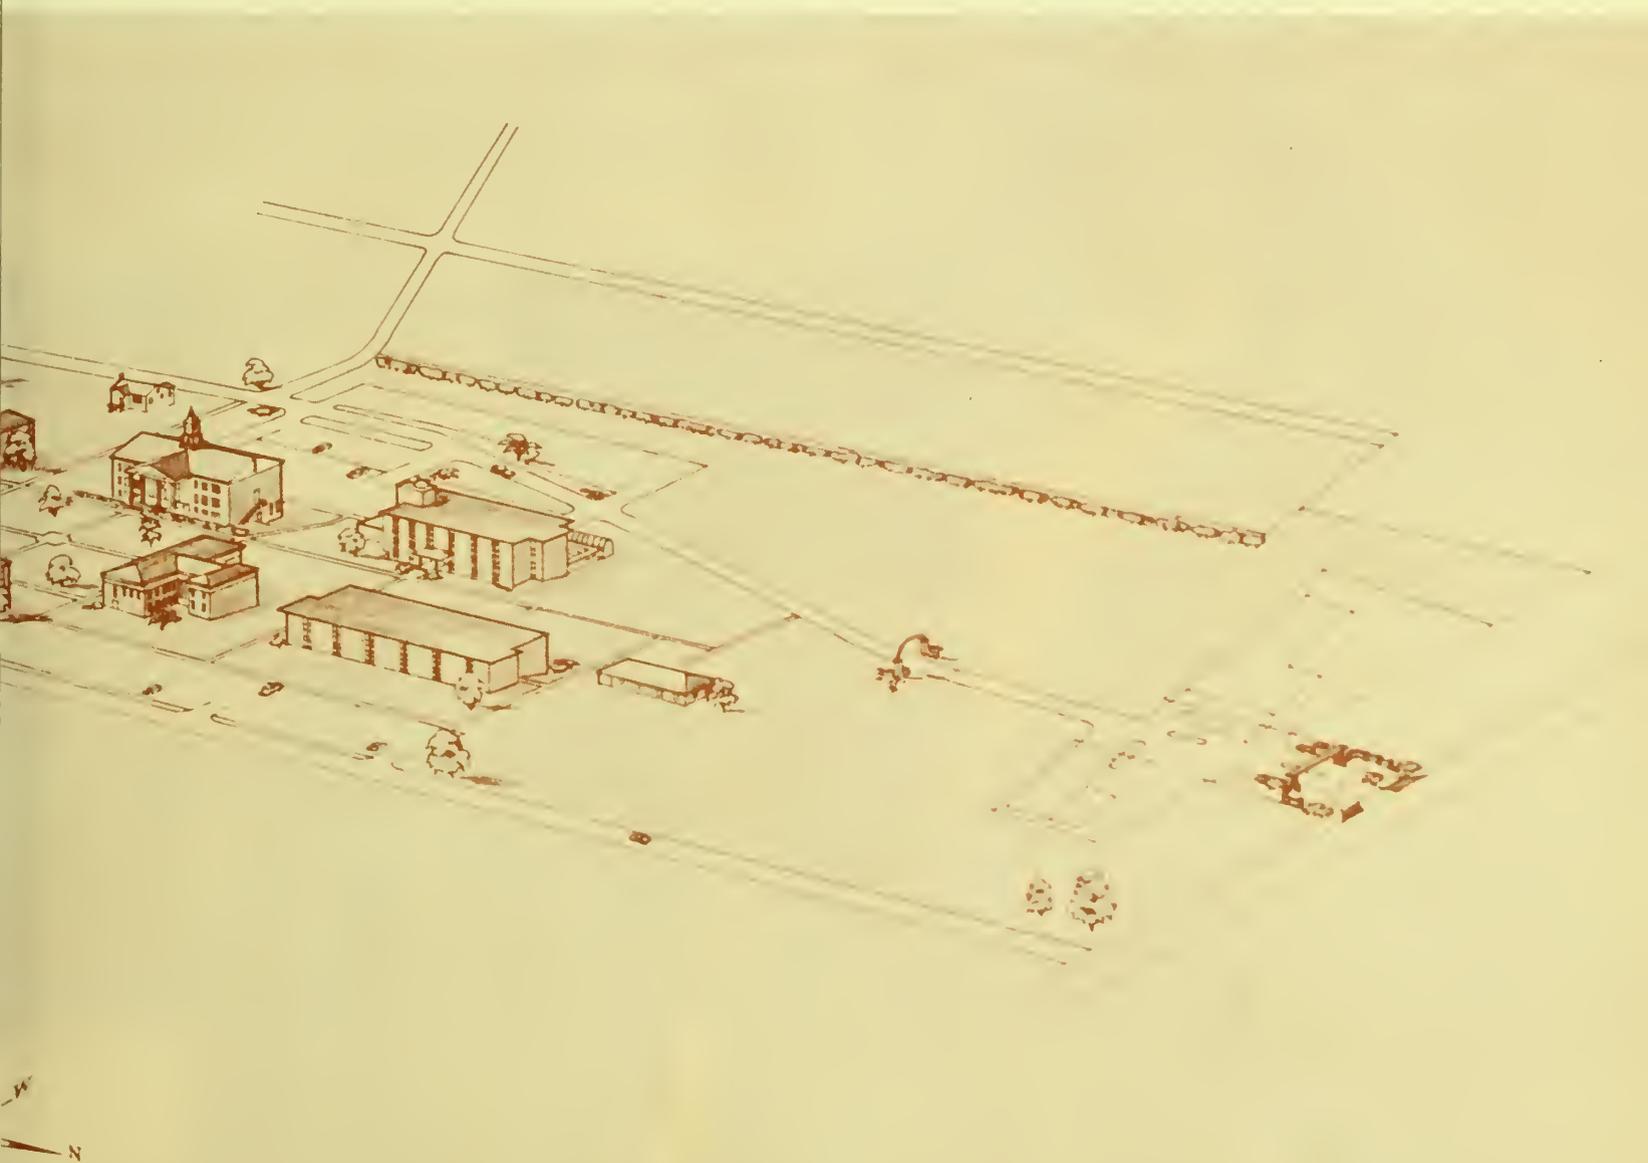

President Greathouse has designated 1965-1975 as the "Decade of Challenge," and as the decades of the past have proved, the providence of God will continue to push the college in what is one of its most critical periods. It will be critical because of the developmental demands that challenge the entire college.

With a rise in enrollment to 1400 as forecast, the "Decade of Challenge" demands more and better BUILDINGS. From the crystal ball of the recent Self Study, eleven major buildings will be constructed as the fifty-acre campus becomes filled. Thirty new TEACHERS will increase the size of the faculty. Three hundred ninety-four hours will be added to the CURRICULUM. The holdings in the LIBRARY will be more than doubled as thousands of books are added to the shelves. New EQUIPMENT will be purchased for every department.

These projections set forth the greatest challenge in the history of TNC. Each member of the college constituency will be challenged to give of his PRAYER, FINANCE, and HEART-SUPPORT in an effort to meet the challenge of developing his Alma Mater.

Prologue

"Nobody can paint the sunlight.
He can only paint the tricks that shadows play with it, or what it does to forms."
Willa Cather

These words have a special application to our task as a yearbook staff in producing the 1966 DARDA. The kaleidoscopic features that go together to form a year on a college campus are much too complex to be dissected and analyzed. It is left for us to generalize and give impressions. It remains for you, the student, to take these impressions and discern for yourself.

In the past the DARDA staffs have sought to present a record of a year at Trevecca through the media of copy and photography. Our task remains the same but our approach has been different. The layout is new and will require your becoming accustomed to it. Copy has been decreased and in some areas eliminated. Photography carries much of our expression. These pictures were selected for two reasons: to record the events of the year and to capture the feeling of the moment.

We are not qualified or prepared to state what this year at Trevecca has meant to you. Who can say what subjective experiences and intangibles have meaning for you, the individual student?

It is our hope that we have captured some fleeting moment or lasting facet of Trevecca which awakens a memory that is yours and gives you a glimpse of yourself and 1966 at T. N. C. If so, we have accomplished our goal.

LEADERSHIP ORGANIZATIONS

STUDENT COUNCIL

Acting as liaison between the Administration and the Associated Student Body, the Student Council served as the center of student government on our campus. The members of the council were elected by the student body and represented Trevecca's most capable leaders. The group met weekly to consider issues of business and campus activities, and they were responsible for many important functions. In cooperation with the Music Department, the council presented an artists series with the Nashville String Quartet and the Nashville Symphony Orchestra. In the spring the Student Council Lectures were given by Willis E. Snowbarger, Executive Secretary of the Department of Education. Trevecca was host to representatives from the other Nazarene colleges during the Nazarene Student Leadership Conference.

HONOR SOCIETY

Under the leadership of Professor Paul Bassett, sponsor, and Billie Jean Cline, president, the Honor Society drew up a constitution and made the transition from an inactive club into a functioning and aggressive organization. Membership was based upon the student's maintaining a 2.5 grade average or higher for three consecutive quarters. The members were characterized by their scholastic interest and participation in the extracurricular activities offered by Trevecca. The society sponsored several luncheons and seminars. One of their most successful activities was a "College Bowl" program in which Honor Society members matched wits on questions submitted by the faculty.

CIRCLE K

The Circle K Club of Trevecca came into its own this year. The club is affiliated with Kiwanis International and has as its motto, "We Build." They sponsored several fund-raising drives which enabled them to carry out the following projects: the Circle K Kapers during Senior Days; the Class Basketball Tournament; and the purchase and installation of road signs to direct visitors to our school. The members represent Trevecca's most outstanding young men in the areas of scholarship, leadership, athletics, and participation in the affairs of the college community.

FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION

PRESIDENT

President John Hibben of Princeton maintained that the object of Princeton education was to bring a man into full possession of his powers with a richly stored mind, a trustworthy character, a spirit of ambition based on attainment, and a spirit of consecration to devote that attainment to the welfare of the world. These appear to be worthy aims for Trevecca Nazarene College.

Christ came to make possible the abundant life. Trevecca takes the finest young men and women of the church and tries to assist them in attaining to the full heights of Christian manhood and womanhood and coming into the full possession of their powers.

The first business of Trevecca is to help you store your mind richly. As a college we are primarily an institution of learning. Our constant effort is to provide a curriculum with breadth, depth and balance.

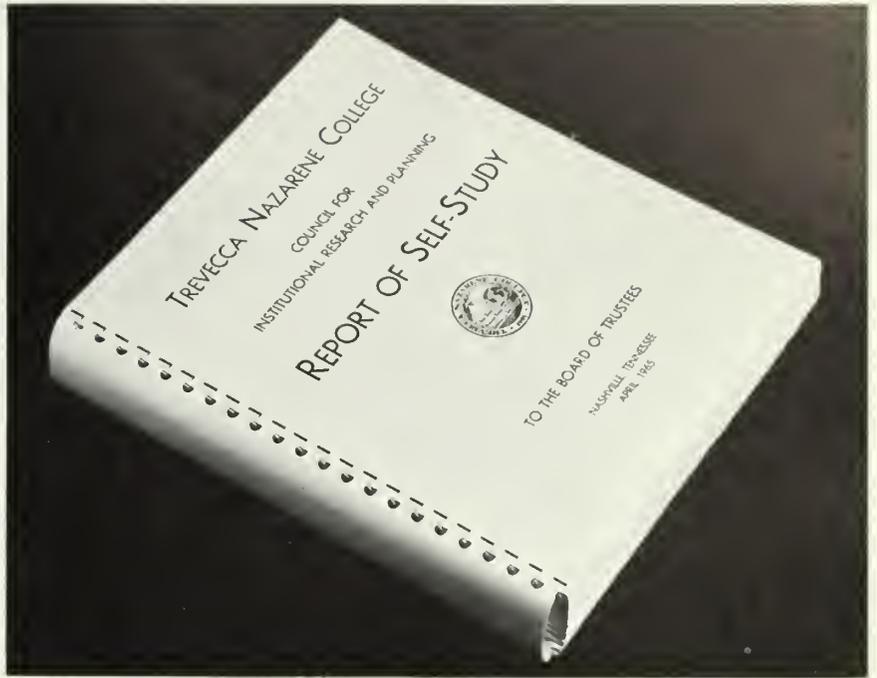

I would remind you, however, that knowledge must be wed to character. We can never forget that Nazi Germany was perhaps the most highly educated nation the world has ever seen. "A trustworthy character" is one patterned after Jesus Christ. It is the product of divine grace and right human choices. The religious life of the College, especially the daily chapel service, is integral to the education we offer you.

And do not be afraid of "a spirit of ambition based on attainment." Every great and influential life has been marked by ambition. One cannot come into the possession of knowledge without feeling his powers heightened and dreaming of doing something significant and lasting. Such ambition is unholy only if it is directed toward selfish ends. It is holy when it is consecrated to Christ and the welfare of mankind. Charles Wesley put it unforgettably:

"To serve the present age,
My calling to fulfill;
O may it all my powers engage,
To do my Master's will."

—WILLIAM M. GREATHOUSE

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The Council for Institutional Research and Planning (CIRP), presented this self-study to the Board of Trustees during the '65 spring meeting. The Council conducted an intensive study of each phase of the college and presented a long-range plan for the expansion and development of the school.

The Board of Trustees, with Dr. John L. Knight as chairman, recess during their spring meeting.

ORGANIZATIONS

DARDA

The 1966 DARDA . . . taking pictures . . . staff meetings . . . collecting ads . . . trips to the printer's . . . choosing a cover . . . watching the layout develop . . . selecting pictures . . . writing copy . . . typing . . . making deadlines . . . waiting for the arrival of the book. . .

These were some of the steps in the development of this yearbook. The goal of the staff was to present a unique book which would capture and preserve the movements of Trevecca. The DARDA is a picture book, a campus directory, a book of memories. To the members of the staff it was a way of life for a year.

TREV-ECHOES

Trev-Echoes continued to progress toward collegiate appearance and content. Dick Bailey worked toward two goals in his second year as editor. The first goal was that of establishing the newspaper as a true measure of student opinion and not just a reflection of the faculty. The second goal involved more freedom of the press in view of the spirit of more academic freedom on the campus. The newspaper concentrated primarily on campus-centered problems and on contributions by students rather than using material from outside sources.

C. W. A.

One of the highlights of this year was the opportunity presented for Christian service in the Christian Workers Association. Promoting Christianity wherever and whenever occasions existed, the C. W. A. enabled many students to gain practical experience and knowledge in Christian service. Two hundred students were members during the year and more than seventy-five participated each week in the various services. The fifty services held each month were distributed among the hospitals, rest homes, jails, youth institutions, prisons, and streets of Nashville. Workers participated in the various services by singing, teaching, praying, witnessing, preaching, distributing tracts and engaging in personal work.

A CAPPELLA CHOIR

Wearing their new blue blazers, the A Cappella Choir departed on January 9th for the Nazarene Evangelism Conference in Kansas City, Missouri. The choir, directed by Professor Ramon Unruh, was the featured musical group at the conference and was the guest of the Kansas City Churches of the Nazarene.

On March 5th the choir headed south for a tour of the Carolinas, Florida, and Georgia. Mr. William Anderson, Assistant to the President in Public Relations, and Mrs. Amanda Jarrett accompanied the group as speaker for the college and chaperon, respectively. Graduation week services, chapel appearances, the Spring Concert, concerts in local churches—all of these are ways that the A Cappella Choir serves the college and Christ.

PROFESSOR RAMON UNRUH, Director

TREBLE TONES CHOIR

With a new sound and a new enthusiasm, the Treble Tones again took their ministry through song to various parts of the Southeastern Educational Zone. Under the direction of Professor Barbara McClain, the choir sang songs of praise in the churches of the Nashville area and toured West Tennessee, Mississippi, and Alabama. Dr. and Mrs. Greathouse again traveled with the group on spring tour and Dr. Greathouse represented the college in the services. A week-end invasion of Kentucky was a highlight of the year for the Treble Tones.

The choir sang a variety of songs and unusual arrangements. Miss McClain was personally responsible for many of their arrangements. Carl Taylor and Greg Rickey traveled with the group and served as soloist and equipment supervisor, respectively. The Treble Tones ended the year with appearances at the Spring Concert and graduation exercises.

PROFESSOR BARBARA McCLAIN, Director

PROFESSOR JAMES VAN HOOK, Director

MEN'S GLEE CLUB

Traveling in new navy blue parkas, this singing group headed northward. With Professor James Van Hook as director, the Men's Glee Club sang in Kentucky, West Virginia, Virginia, and Georgia on their spring tour. Two new additions to the choir were Ann Berck and Carla Brundige, who served as soloists and accompanist. Mr. Dave Erickson, Field Secretary of the college, represented the school on this tour.

Computational interests were deepened in this organization by the exploration of opportunities in this field. One way this was done was by visiting a publishing house with a guide who explained the operation of the computers. Films pertaining to math and math-related vocations were presented by the club.

Stimulating interest in historical and political matters was the chief objective of this group. By sponsoring debates on Vietnam headed by Dr. Adams and Dr. Bassett, and by a political poll concerning United States foreign policy in Vietnam, they attempted to understand the past in terms of the present. In order to enrich the students' view of our cultural heritage, the society sponsored trips to distant historical locations, such as Shiloh and Look-out Mountain, and local excursions to Fort Nashborough, famous historical homes, and the Belle Meade Mansion. They also served as sponsors of receptions honoring the incoming and outgoing student government.

This group focused their attention on missions by setting aside Friday for fasting and prayer for our Nazarene missionaries and those who labor on foreign fields in the name of Christ.

EPILOGUE

The 1966 DARDA staff would like to pause and acknowledge the following people for their assistance in producing the yearbook: Mr. John T. Benson, III; Norris Collins Photographers; Bradford Furniture Co.; Mitchell Tuxedo Rental; Beverly Smith, school photographer; and Mr. William Anderson and the Public Relations Department of the school.

To the 1966 DARDA staff I am indeed grateful. Their willingness to work, their support, and the long hours they devoted to the 1966 DARDA made this yearbook possible.

In the words of Bruyère, "Everything has been said." The day that we have waited for is here. The book that was ours for a year now belongs to you. And to you, the students of Trevecca, we extend our warmest thanks. After all, you are really the ones who made the 1966 DARDA possible—the DARDA is about you.

A church is people . . . spirited people, enthusiastic people, hopeful people, talented people, dedicated people, devout people . . . it is people singing, people praying, people caring, people doing, people sharing . . . it is old people, young people, big people, little people, single people, married people . . . it can be a few people or it can be many people . . . but most of all they must be Christ's people. Pastor Don Irwin and the people at Grace Church of the Nazarene in Nashville prayerfully strive to be His people.
